Class Song

"I'm Not Gonna Cry"

Sunday Shoes, Cap and Gown

The whole town gathered around

Waited 18 years now its all comin down to this.

I scanned the crowd and it fills my soul

My best friends all here in rows

No turning back, Now its time to walk that line

This tassel is gonna turn

But when the moment passes by

We'll just walk away

Then slowly grow apart ...

Jake Dwiggins

When and where did you first learn to play drums?

I was nine years old. It was Christmas 1999 when I got my first drums. My mom's boyfriend at the time taught me a simple basic drum beat to practice with, and from there, I basically taught myself.

Why did you choose drums over any other instrument?

Drums always appealed to me more than other instruments. There are a lot of musicians in the Dwiggins family on my dad's side, most of them guitarists, but drums always caught my eye more. I would always tap and beat on things, and I saw a set of drums when I was seven and I begged my mom for two years to get them for me. Finally she did and I just stuck with it.

Have you always wanted a career in music?

I have always loved music and I've always been well rounded in music. When I got my drums, and started to play well, I started to appreciate music more. I guess when I got to be fairly good at drums, I thought it would be possible to be a professional someday. It got to a point where I just felt like I knew one day I would be in a touring band. I didn't realize at what degree it would be, I wanted it more than anything, though. And I just told myself that eventually my music career would take off. So I just put myself in every position possible to get where I am today.

What is the best part about performing for a crowd of fans?

The best part is the energy a good crowd brings. It's the best feeling in the world to look out in the crowd and see everyone having such a great time, singing every word to every song, and just completely getting so into our music. That is why I play music for the fans. If we have a great crowd with great energy, it just pumps me up to play a great show.

Where is your favorite place to perform?

I'd have to say my favorite place to play was South Africa. The fans there were like nowhere else. These people worshiped us and loved our music so much. And every night, the crowd would have so much energy, singing every song by heart, and just genuinely having the time of their lives.

While traveling, what is one thing you always have with you?

I always have my cell phone, laptop, and ipod. Four necessities!

What bands/music interests or inspires you?

Foo Fighters and Dave Grohl in general inspire me a lot. I admire Dave Grohl for his accomplishments, his personality, and his writing. He's just an all around good guy.

Being the youngest and having less experience traveling with a band, do you miss your family and friends, or feel more distracted and at ease?

Being the youngest in the band doesn't really change the fact that no matter how old you are, and how strong you are, after a while, you miss your family and friends. Distractions only last so long, but at the end of the day, one can't help but miss those he loves most. I have definitely missed a lot of people while I've been gone, and you know who you are.

What is the most interesting thing you have seen based on the difference in cultures?

When we played in South Africa, the first night there, we stayed in a cultural village. We got a first hand look in seeing natives in their grass huts living primitively. It was amazing to see the difference in how people live and survive. What most people don't realize, though, is that South Africa is not different than America. It's not a third world country with lions roaming around everywhere... It's just a fairly normal culture.

What is the biggest challenge you have faced while being on the road?

The biggest challenge has been balancing work and play, in the sense that I still had to do school work and making myself buckle down and do it while everyone else is having fun.

Idealistically, how do you view your future?

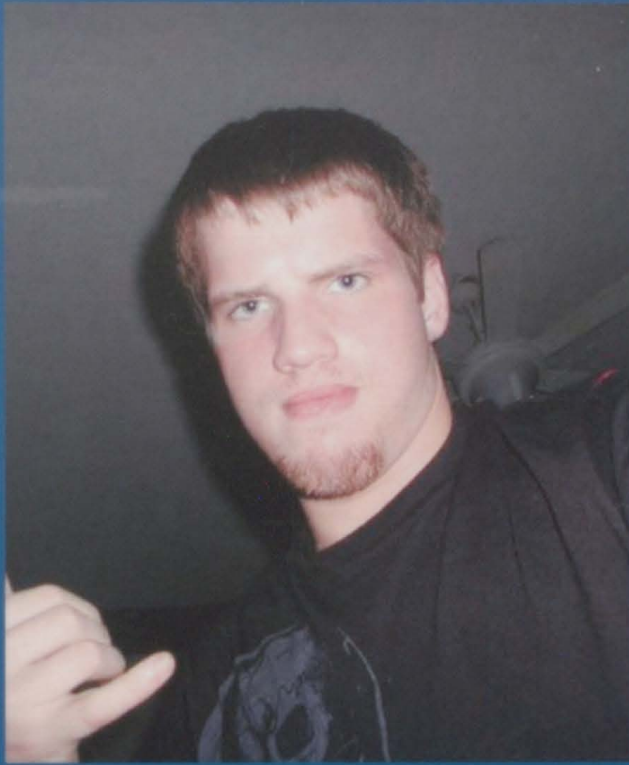

Idealistically, I view my future as people assume I live now. I think a lot of people have misconceptions on how I live now. But I don't think it's out of the question to have the success that Fall Out Boy has or something. And I have every intention to work hard to get to that level, because it's very possible.

If you had to choose a career aside from music, what would it be?

If I had to do something else, I would love to be a high school teacher.

"& we've lost a few along the way.."

What are your thoughts on this year's Volleyball Team?

~Junior Alex Cook- " We started this year off rough, but in the end we got a lot better."

~Sophomore Sophia Sechler- "Even though we did not do well this year, we all had a lot of fun!"

* The volleyball team has practiced strenuous hours and has worked very hard this year.

* Junior setter Tiffany Stephens made CIC Honorable Mention and the Northfield All-Tournament Team.

* Junior player Sheena Smith made the Madison County Tournament Team.

* This year's volleyball team has made everyone very proud!

Remember when you hit that hole in one?

The Girls golf team gather around their coach to listen to their coach give them pointers and advice before the start of the meet.

The Team: (left to right) Coach Hobbs, Krystal Rush, Toni Kontos, Paige Hanlin, Cecily Swinford, Katie Huffman.

Katie Huffman and Paige Hanlin were both medalist in the CIC Tournament. Katie was second in the tournament; she also was the medalist against Highland.

How it's done.

Senior Paige Hanlin shows you how to first line up the club up with the ball and drive back.

Then, Senior Krystal Rush shows how to swing the club and hit the ball.

Finally, Sophomore Toni Kontos putts the ball once it's closer to the hole.

What is some good advice for future golfers?

"Practice, Practice, Practice. The only way you can succeed at anything is to work at what you are trying to accomplish. I always set little goals for myself and just do it one step at a time."

Katie Huffman

"Just have fun and don't get too frustrated. Golf is a sport that gets more fun each time you play."

Student Life.

Remember how much fun you had with your friends decorating halls, going to football games, dancing at dances, working together in class, and dressing up on dress up days?

The senior cheerleaders Kyle Vest, Thomas Phillips, Adam Rickleman, and Derrick Rittenhouse cheer on the senior girls.

During Alley Cat, senior Jake Dwiggins played the drums for the group he was in.

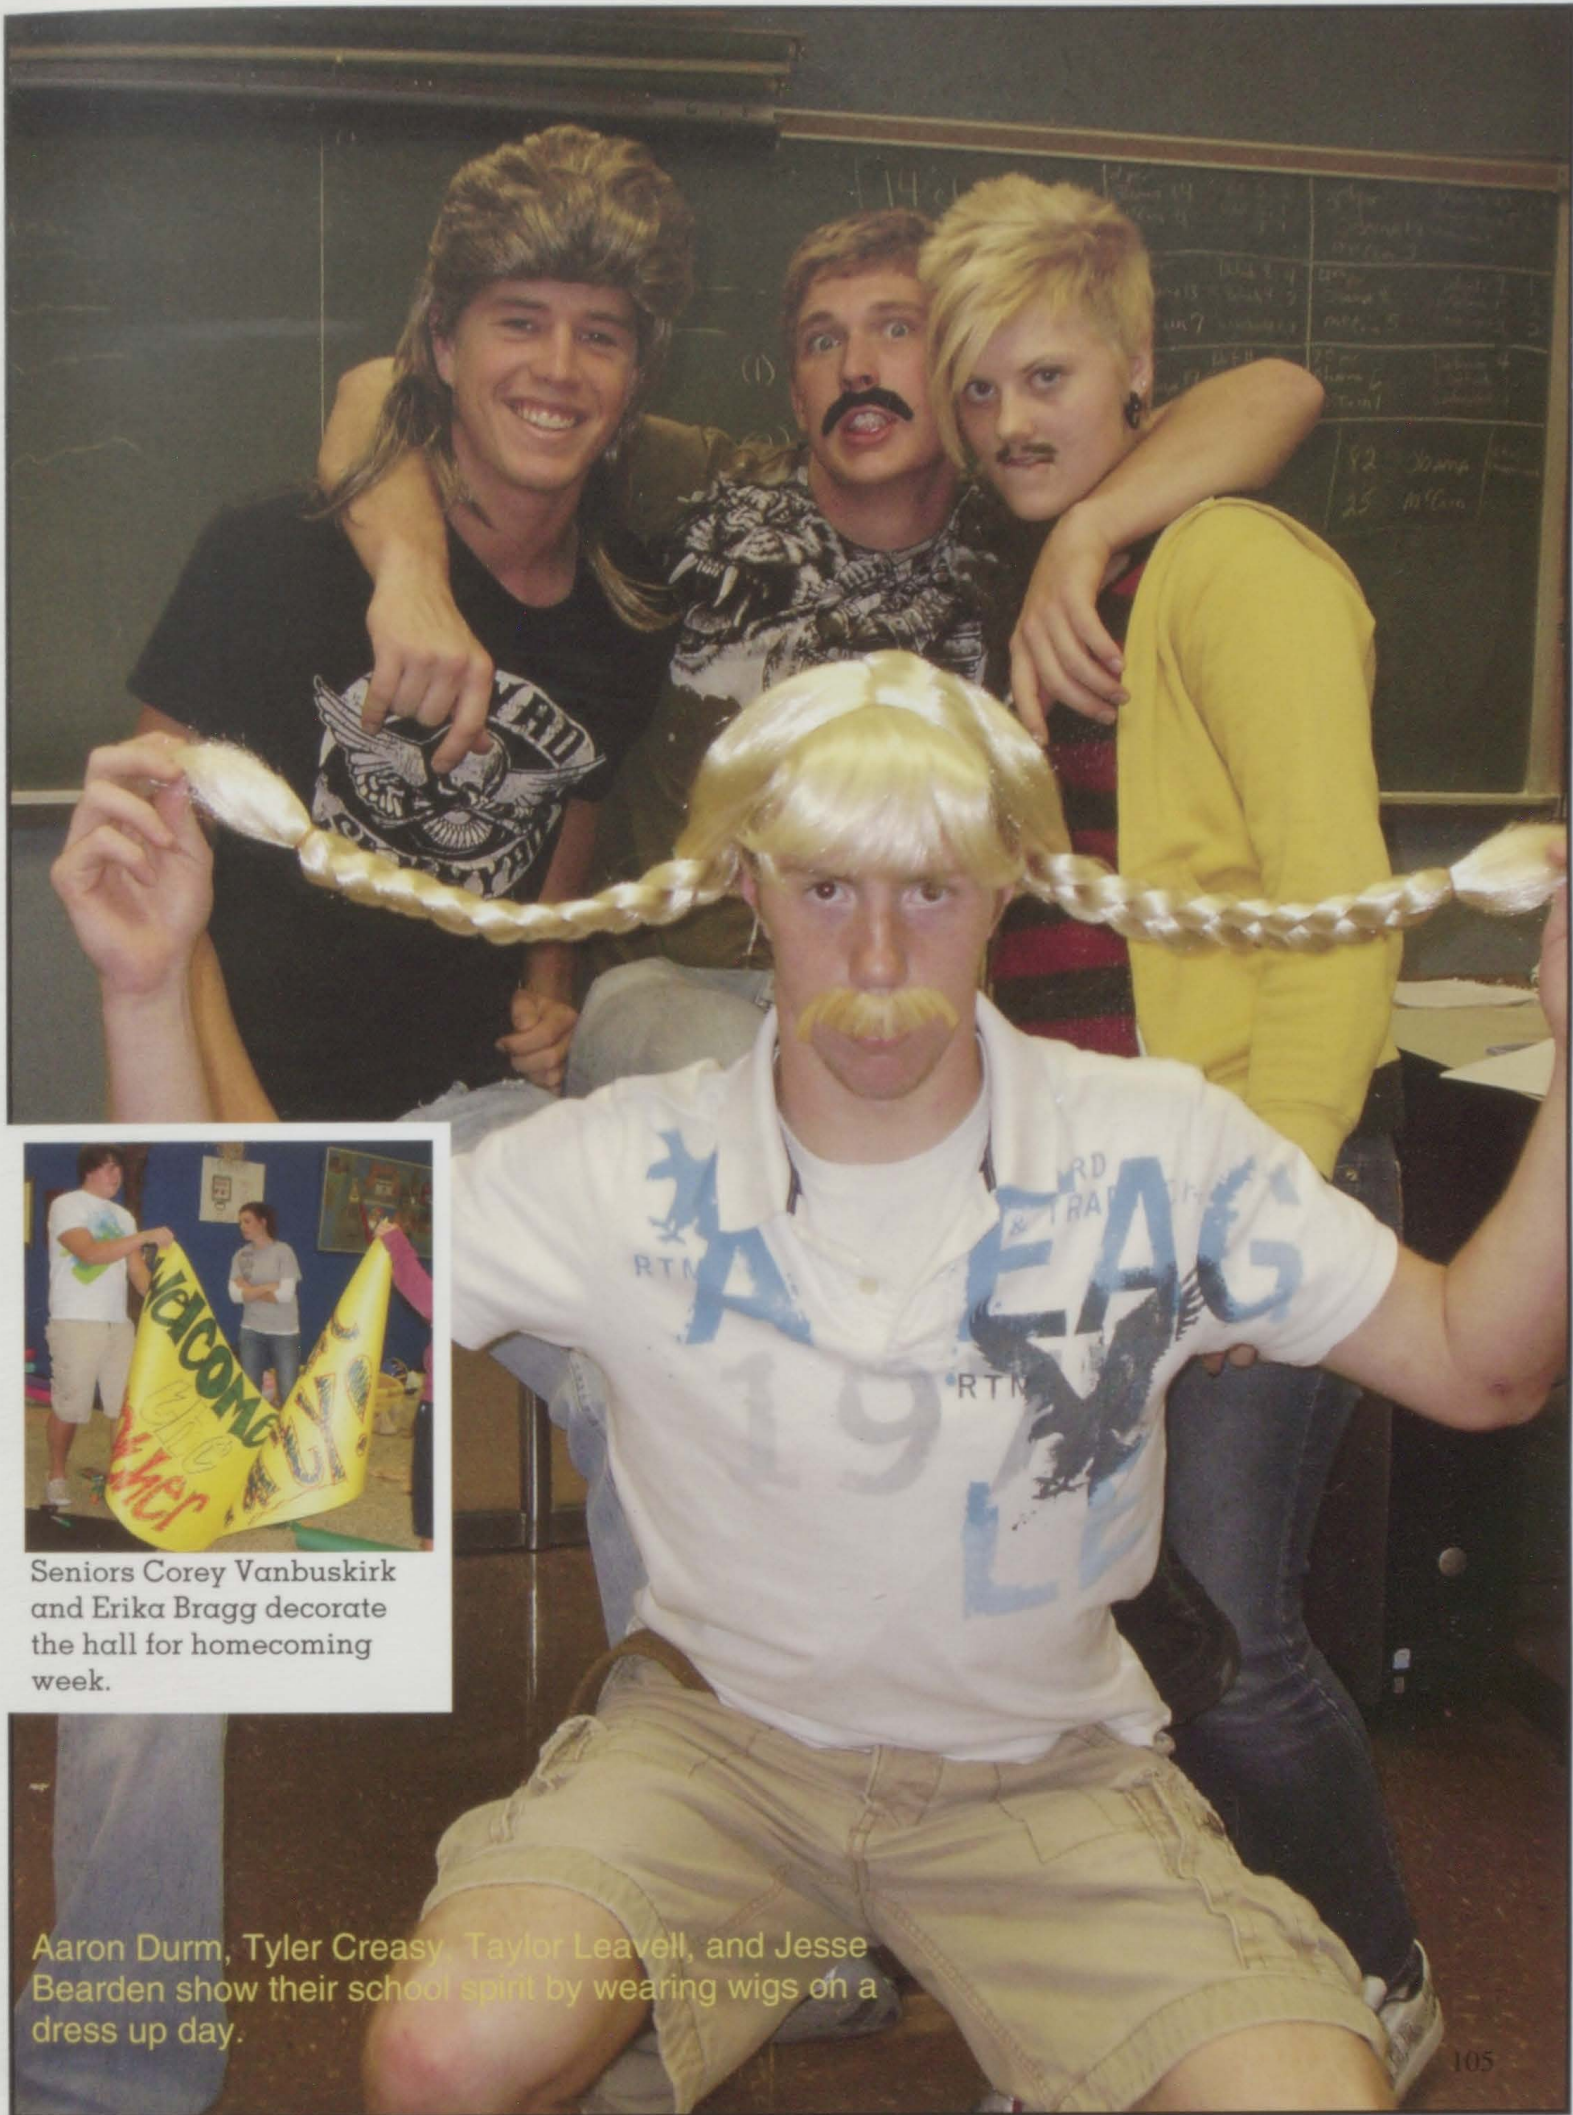

Junior Korsen Stiner sits in math class taking notes while allowing his classmates to dress him up.

Live.

Laugh.

Love.

Seniors Corey Vanbuskirk and Erika Bragg decorate the hall for homecoming week.

Aaron Durm, Tyler Creasy, Taylor Leavell, and Jesse Bearden show their school spirit by wearing wigs on a dress up day.

5. Chris Rush tires to hide his phone but doe not succeed.

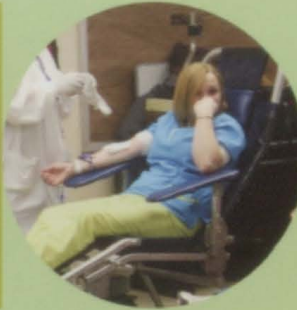

Donating Blood

Twice a year, the Indiana Blood Center comes to the High School to offer students a chance to help save lives. Many requirements must be fulfilled before a student is able to donate blood. First and foremost, 16 years old is the minimum age for donating. If the student has piercings or tattoos, they must be over a year old, and he or she must weigh at least 110 pounds. There are many procedures that are carried out before the actual donating of blood. First, the student must show identification and give their information to a nurse. They are then seated at a table to answer 51 questions that will determine whether or not they are able to give blood. After finishing the questionnaire, a nurse quickly takes an iron sample and takes the student to the donation area. To be sure there is a large amount of sugar in the blood, the student is given a small snack and drink, usually being juice and crackers. Finally, after a short wait, he or she will be seated and introduced to the nurse who will be taking their blood. For some, the procedure is quick and painless. Others have a fear of needles or medical atmospheres in general and become easily sick or dizzy. However, both types of students have one thing in common: they could be saving a life.

"It's great to know that one pint of blood is three lives saved."

1. Seniors Chelsea Harmon and Kylee Bixby listen closely as they are given instructions during their donation.
2. Sophomore Rachel Hunt waits patiently while staying calm as she nears the end of the blood donating process.
3. Senior Chelsea Harvill and junior Carlee Jones fill out information sheets while waiting to be examined by a nurse.
4. Kimi Cole, senior, watches as the doctor quickly takes her blood pressure.
5. Junior Brittany DePaolo, a Health Occupations student, waits to leave after giving blood. The students are given a certain amount of time to rest before going back to class. However, Brittany's time was not long enough. She was sent home after passing out in class.
6. Senior Kylee Bixby calms herself as her nurse removes the needle.

Alley Cat

Senior Mitch Preston shows off his drumming skills.

Senior Michael Barmes

Senior Sarah Jones plays the piano

Junior Michael Murray flexes for the audience.

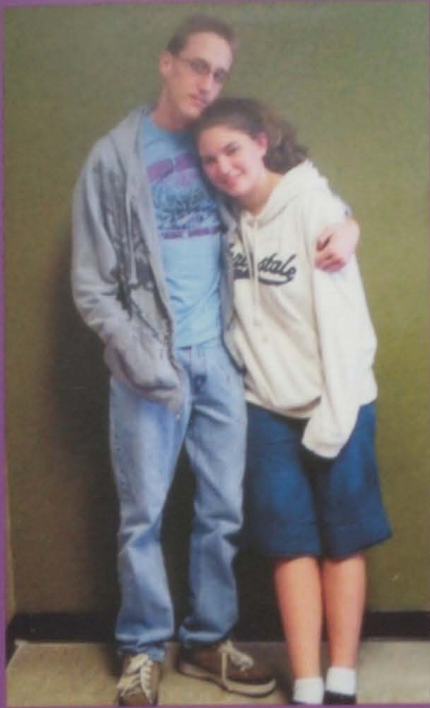

Senior Jake Dwigians plays the drums.

Over the past decade or so, an Art Club tradition has been introduced that is a major event for our school. Alley Cat Cafe has allowed students to express their musical powers, and it has also given them the ability to perform without paying a booking agency or handling the other stress inducers of the music industry. It is a chance to test the waters of live performance, and those who have performed have been very appreciative of the school and the Art Club's backing. The ticket prices have remained at one dollar for quite some time, so there's no excuse to not come see our school's local talent. See you next year!

Graduation 2009

Our memories from ECHS are forever; they helped shape who we are and what we will become. As we say goodbye, we know this is not the end, but the beginning. We will set out on different roads, but we will meet again when our paths cross.
